Ortho Team Gets Early Start on Crazy Socks

A tribute to our fun and engaging culture recently took place at the Hot Springs Orthopedics Clinic. The team got an early start on the "crazy socks" fun that will happen system-wide during Heritage Week! They had fun and encouraged each other. As one person said, "You never know how strong you are until being strong is the only choice!"

Rebecca Duncan Recognized as a Service Hero at North

She put our values into action by demonstrating EXCELLENCE and COMPASSION after coming in when she was already off duty to help her coworkers get a mid-line started.

Read a snippet from her nomination:

A patient needed a large IV in a large vein. After multiple attempts to start the line failed, Brent went to the Emergency Department to see if there was someone who could start a mid-line. Rebecca had already left for the day, but turned around and came back to treat the patient.

Community Outreach Takes Nutrition Classes to City Employees

Jordan Howard, an RD with our Diabetes and Endocrinology Clinic – Little Rock, spoke to city employees about the importance of eating right and how eating affects the rest of their health and well being. He handed out Well-Fed Me recipe booklets and gave each employee a portion control plate to help them put good eating habits into practice. He also provided educational information about the services we offer at our clinics.

why should I respect cultural differences?

because we are ALL created in God's image
each person's background gives them a unique perspective strength lies in our differences
because together we're better

VALUES IN ACTION

Respect cultural differences and honor individual preferences.

Recognize the value of a diverse workforce, remaining open to new points of view, ideas and talents.

Respect our patient's and coworker's rights toward personal spirituality and diversity.

"Help me understand what's important to you."

"What do you think?"

"Do you have any cultural or spiritual preferences that I need to be aware of?"
