Must-Know Infirmiry Magnet Visit Begins Wednesday

The four-person team will also visit Heart Clinic Arkansas-Kanis and the Endocrinology Clinic before leaving on Friday, April 6. The purpose of the visit is to "verify, clarify and amplify" the written evidence submitted in June and December. Non-nursing coworkers will have an opportunity to meet the appraisers during an open forum on April 5, from 1:30-2:15pm. Coworkers can drop by the St. Vincent de Paul Room to speak with appraisers during this time.

why should I be knowledgeable and prepared to provide info to patients & other coworkers?

because one of my coworkers may need emotional support

I need to know the great resources my organization offers patients trust that I can help them find the things they need

if I refer a patient to Chaplaincy Services, they can care for more than the patient's physical health

because together we're healthier

Robert Daniel, Infirmary

Compassion

Be knowledgeable and prepared to provide information on available resources to patients or coworkers in need of support.

Utilize existing support systems, such as Chaplaincy Services, Social Services, Care Management, EAP or Hospice, who can assess and offer appropriate emotional support.

"Would you like to speak with someone from our Care Management Department?"

"Our chaplain would welcome the opportunity to speak with you."

"Did you know our EAP program offers free counseling sessions for coworkers?"
