COMMUNICATION

June 25, 2018

FEATURED PIC: Thank you to everyone who joined us at the Go! Mile First Mile event Sat., June 16. These coworkers not only woke up early, but chose to go for a run. For some, it was their first ever mile. How motivating! For pics from the first mile event and other race results, visit onespiritblog.com.

Must-Know

National Patient Safety Week Recognized June 24-30

You may be thinking to yourself, "Wasn't National Patient Safety Week in March?" Well, yes, but in order to give it the proper attention, we decided to recognize it in June during National Safety Month. By uniting together in that common goal, we can truly make a difference. Go to onespiritblog.com for a list of planned activities for Patient Safety Week.

Coworkers Feed Thousands By "Feeding The Funnel"

The Values in Action team hosted The Pack Shack in three Feed the Funnel parties in recent weeks. Coworkers from each campus volunteered to help pack meals and together they packed over 30,000 meals for those in need. Thanks to the Foundation and Auxiliary for funding this event!

Facetime

"Through Every Tear She Was There"

"I would like to nominate this nurse for the Daisy award. After pregnancy complications at just 16 weeks, I had to deliver my son. That's when I met this nurse. She was the most pleasant human being I have ever met. She was there for me through it all – even saying goodbye to my son. Through every tear she was there. It was like she knew exactly what to say and do at the most perfect moment that I needed her to.

I believe that God sent this nurse to us because she was perfect for us. She took the best of care of me, my son and our family. We will always remember this nurse and she will always hold a special place in my heart for all the extraordinary things she did for us. If it were not for her I don't know how I would have gotten through that awful day. She made it better in every way she could. I believe this nurse deserves the Daisy Award for all of her wonderful skills as a nurse and for the amazing person that she is.

VALUES IN ACTION

Be knowledgeable and prepared to provide information on available resources to patients or coworkers in need of support.

Utilize existing support systems, such as Chaplaincy Services, Social Services, Care Management, EAP or Hospice, who can assess and offer appropriate emotional support.

"Would you like to speak with someone from our Care Management Department?"

"Our chaplain would welcome the opportunity to speak with you."

"Did you know our EAP program offers free counseling sessions for coworkers?"
